Jessica

A BIT ABOUT ME

Hello! I'm Jessica. I'm the founder of Blooming Creative and The Kind Mail Club. Originally from Essex, I've spent the last four years building my home here in Edinburgh.

My background is a mix of two worlds: hospitality and art. I studied hospitality in college and spent years working in hotels and venues, so I know exactly what goes into making an event run smoothly. Alongside that career, I was always a maker, running a small stationery business where I turned my digital illustrations into stickers and notepads for craft fairs.

Blooming Creative is the result of bringing those two passions together. I wanted to take my experience in events and use it to make high-end, professional creativity accessible to everyone.

Creativity has always been my "reset button." It's a way to get out of my head and reconnect. Whether I'm hosting a live Pick n Press booth at a brand launch or leading a Sublimation workshop for a hen do, my goal is the same, to create a space where you can disconnect from the noise, connect with the people around you, and leave with something you're proud of.

The Kind Mail Club is the other side of my work, a project born from my own journey with anxiety and depression. It's a way to use creativity as a tool for reflection and connection, designed to help you check in with yourself and, most importantly to make you smile.

I love the fast-paced energy of a live event just as much as the quiet of my studio, and I feel incredibly lucky that I get to share both with you.
