Workshops & Events

LEARN. GROW. CONNECT. CREATE.

WHAT WE DO

Blooming Creative is about bringing the joy of making directly to you. Based in Edinburgh, I'm passionate about creating fun, hands-on experiences that foster creativity and connection. Forget impersonal, mass-produced items here, we're all about learning new skills and crafting something unique with your own hands.

I specialise in unique pop-up workshop experience's. The great thing is... I can come to you, whether it's your office for a team-building session, a hen party celebration, a milestone birthday bash, or a children's party that's bursting with creativity... I can bring the experience to your door. I can also help locate a local venue to hire should you wish to do it away from your office/home. Imagine designing personalised products through sublimation printing, crafting custom stickers, or hand-binding beautiful notebooks, all within the comfort of your chosen space. These workshops aren't just about making things; they're about creating memories and sharing laughter with those around you.

Beyond private events, I also love partnering with local businesses for collaborative, ticketed workshops open to everyone. It's a chance to meet new people, explore different creative avenues, and contribute to the vibrant Edinburgh community. I can't wait to bring the Blooming Creative experience to you and help you unlock your inner artist. Let's make something amazing together!

A BIT ABOUT ME

I'm Jessica, a passionate event planner and the creator of Blooming Creative, a pop-up workshop experience designed to bring creativity right to your doorstep. With over eight years of experience bringing events to life, I'm now excited to bring that expertise to the world of creative workshops. Originally from Essex, I've found my home and inspiration here in Edinburgh these past three years.

My love for making things has always been a part of me - from transforming chocolate wrappers into art, to spending countless hours sketching in the Henry Moore gardens with my dad and sisters growing up. I was always drawn to the creative process. Although I may not have considered myself the most talented artist, those early experiences filled me with joy and a sense of connection.

That feeling led me to discover a community of fellow stationery enthusiasts, where I embraced digital art and design. I soon turned my ideas into stickers, notepads, and other goodies, sharing them at craft fairs and with my friends and family.

However, the true magic for me is seeing the joy on someone's face when they create something. Blooming Creative is about creating opportunities to connect through art. I'm excited to share this journey with you!
